

4+ Independence for Assessments

When children start school, they will need to be fully independent when putting on/off their coats and shoes.

They will also need to dress/undress themselves for activities such as PE.

They may not be able to show all this at an assessment, but a willingness to make an attempt will go far.

They will be expected to manage all their toileting needs independently.

Children may not use cutlery, or pour drinks at the assessment, but school's will be looking for skills that show their ability to do so.
